Don't let this
mother's day time
go by without a current (or recent)
photo of you and your children.

Write about a moment of joy with your child that you wish you could freeze in time.

Write about the ways motherhood reshaped your identity — not just how others see you, but how you see yourself?

If you could speak honestly and openly to your child as an adult, what would you want them to understand about you as a mother — your sacrifices, fears, hopes, and dreams?

There is no influence so powerful as that of the mother." - Sarah Josepha Hale

When you think about your own childhood, how does it influence the way you choose to parent today?
